Hi Eric,

is it possible to put spelling check on an Editor object?

the last couple of days i spent some time programming the dbase RichEdit control, a class i totally neglected till then.

A closer look reveals a lot of really cool features (see another thread here). The control is based on the native windows rich edit control and inherits all its properties (they are hidden, but can be brought to light)

There is f.i. a built-in spell-checker that comes for free and should work with all windows versions from 2008 on...

Attached is a custom class, showing the spell check in action...

HTH,
Marc
